1

Questions

1. What could be the potential impact of using the 'sleep(15)' function in a query?

A. It could slow down database performance
B. It enhances system security
C. It reduces memory usage
D. It improves query execution speed

2. In the context of SQL, what does the 'sysdate()' function return?

A. The current system date and time
B. A formatted string of date
C. The server's IP address
D. A null value

3. Why might unconventional expressions or operations in SQL queries, like '555*XOR', be considered a security risk?

A. It primarily increases code complexity.
B. It's too complex to be useful.
C. It might inadvertently execute.
D. They can obfuscate injections, compromising security.