1

Questions

1. How can you describe the function of the '||' operator in PL/SQL?

A. It performs logical OR operations between boolean values.
B. It concatenates strings together.
C. It converts data types into a unified format.
D. It comments out lines of code.

2. In Oracle PL/SQL, what role does 'DBMS_PIPE.RECEIVE_MESSAGE' play in inter-process communication within a database environment?

A. Receives a message from a pipe in a database environment, facilitating communication between different database sessions.
B. Removes a message from a database queue after processing.
C. Temporarily buffers a message for future processing in the database.
D. Sends a message to another program or session through a pipe.