1

Questions

1. What is the ethical objective of testing queries like the provided SQL injection example?

A. To gain unauthorized access to sensitive information
B. To damage or disable a database system
C. To test and validate the security of a system
D. To ensure compliance with data privacy laws

2. Why might SQL comments such as '/*'+ be used in an SQL injection attack?

A. To mark the beginning of a new query
B. To enhance query readability
C. To hide the query from logs
D. To combine different parts of a query and bypass security measures