

1

Questions

1. What is one characteristic of the number 1 in mathematical operations?

- A. It is the only even prime number.
- B. It is the identity element for multiplication.
- C. It is not considered a prime number.
- D. It is divisible by every whole number.